The primary objective of my study is to present the importance of energy in economy. There are a number of different sources of energy, renewable and non-renewable, and also several ways, methods of energy production. Some of these are polluting and cause irreversible damage to our planet, and some are environmentally friendly. Both can be detected in Hungary. In this study my focus is on presenting the energy demand of the population and also how this is met. Finally I would like to share what people think about the different ways of energy production.
